Derby day fever

By CATHERINE PYE

Final plans are in place as the first top-flight Blackburn versus Burnley derby day in 43 years approaches.

With nerves strained across East Lancashire, police have been working with publicans and club officials to stop any disorder on Sunday.

Clarets fans have already been prevented from travelling to Ewood Park individually, and Lancashire Constabulary chiefs have requested town centre pubs only open at lunchtime.

Letters have been sent to licensees, and some pubs have been visited by officers urging them to only open at 12.30pm.

Licensing officer for Blackburn, Steve Finley, said: "A lot of the pubs are showing the game on Sky TV and want to do so in peace. The vast majority of licensees co-operate and have a good relationship with us.

"They have door staff on who instigate a home fans-only policy on match days. However, if any are caught out, it will be a breach of their licensing conditions, which could result in a six-month prison sentence, or a £20,000 fine."

Measures have also been put in place by both clubs to ensure that rival fans don't mix at Ewood Park.

Tickets for the Blackburn home end are only available on a limited basis to supporters with a booking history but, with a few tickets still remaining in home stands, it is feared away supporters may get hold of one through illegal ticket touts.

The Citizen found several websites offering match tickets for sale at up to £103.50. The face value of the seats is £35, or less.

The rivalry has, however, had the positive effect of bringing communities together.

In Great Harwood, brothers Alan and Michael Croascale captained their own Blackburn and Burnley sides to a 4-4 draw on Saturday. Alan, a Claret, and Michael, a Rovers fan, say they hope the real match passes off in the same light-hearted way which saw them, and friends, enjoy a post-match pint.

And workers at two neighbouring firms have been wearing Blackburn and Burnley shirts to work ahead of the big derby. Northern Industrial Electronics and Fairham mouldings, both on Glenfield Industrial Park, off Philips Road, Blackburn, have been displaying both clubs flags and enjoying the banter ahead of the big match.

FRIENDLY RIVALRY: Mascots Jaiydan Beardsworth, Blackburn, and Joe Pedro Gonzales, Burnley, cheer on their teams in a fun football derby in Great Harwood last weekend. Brothers Michael and Alan Croascale, top, captained their own Blackburn and Burnley squads to a 4-4 draw

Shoes strictly fit for TV stars

By CHRIS HOPPER

An East Lancashire company has danced its way on to the national stage after its ballet shoes were featured on Strictly Come Dancing.

The footwear, provided by Starlight Dancewear, has been worn by contestants on the hit show including former boxer Joe Calzaghe, ex-jockey Richard Dunwoody and actress Zoe Lucker.

The stars have been using the shoes during rehearsals with ballerina Darcey Bussell, who will be helping the judging during the later stages of the BBC show.

And footage of the stars using the shoes and being put through their paces has already been featured on the show.

Now, after buying 15 pairs of ballet shoes, programme bosses have asked for a Starlight account to be set up so they can buy more equipment during the course of the show.

Owner Elaine Gregory said: "They emailed me to ask if it was something we could provide for them for the rehearsals.

"They asked for prices and then they ended up placing an order for 15 pairs of ballet shoes which were used in rehearsal footage."

Elaine now hopes the order will boost her business, based in St Aidan's Avenue, Mill Hill, Blackburn, which she runs with daughters Claire, 28, and 22-year-old Zoe.

She said: "It is a nice order for us. It is great to be associated with the show and we have also put it up on our website now too.

"It was a proud moment for us and now we have set them up an account, they will hopefully use us again in the future."

Elaine, Claire and Zoe formed Starlight five years ago and now sell shoes for all types of dance, ranging from ballet, tap and salsa, to Latin and ballroom.

Diana hits headlines

By CATHERINE PYE

Diana Vickers won over a full house with an "amazing" debut performance of Little Voice, her proud mum said.

And she had a little help from our sister newspaper the Lancashire Telegraph. The 18-year-old former Blackburn Westholme student, from Huncoat, takes the lead role in Little Voice.

Producers of the show at the Vaudeville Theatre, in London, ordered 200 copies of the paper to use on stage as a prop.

Kevin Wilson, spokesperson for the production, said: "It's a scene where the mother of Diana's character is checking something in the paper. At first they were going to get the Evening Standard. But I said, no, let's get the real paper from the area it's set in and where Diana is from."

Little Voice is the tale of a painfully shy girl who lives alone in the north of England with her mother and has a talent for impersonating some of the greatest diva singers – including Judy Garland, Edith Piaf and Dame Shirley Bassey.

For her big debut, Diana, who made her name in last year's X Factor, reaching the semi-final, was supported by family and friends.

Her mum Ann said: "It was brilliant. We managed to see her for a few minutes before she went on stage. She was nervous as you'd imagine, but she really got into it when it started. It's so funny in parts. It's a great story line and she managed to take off the other singers like Shirley Bassey really well. She was blooming amazing."

Lesley Sharp, known for parts in Cranford, Clocking Off, and Playing the Field; and Marc Warren, star of Hustle and Dr Who, take on the two other lead roles.

Diana's debut album is due for release, with RCA records, early next year. The Rise and Fall of Little Voice runs at the Vaudeville Theatre until January 30, 2010.

CURTAIN UP: Above, Diana with co-stars Lesley Sharp and Marc Warren. Right, the Lancashire Telegraph's Abigail Timmins prepares editions for London.

Extensions bid is turned down

Plans to build a series of extensions at 12 Cranberry Fold Court, Darwen, have been refused by Blackburn with Darwen Council.

The application was for single-storey extensions to the side and rear and a two-storey extension to the front of the property, with a single-storey garage attached.

Learn to paint

Painting classes for beginners and improvers are now being staged at the Portfolio gallery, Simmons Street, Blackburn. Led by tutor Terry O'Toole, they take place every Friday until the end of the year, with a Christmas card sale for Children in Need at the class on November 20.

New layout for tip road

By EMMA CRUCES

Plans to create a £10million road serving the controversial East Lancashire Waste Technology Park are to go before councillors yet again.

Plans for the link road between Whinney Hill tip and the new waste plant at the former Huncoat Power Station have been re-submitted as the county council proceeds full steam ahead, despite opposition from landowners.

Although the county is due to defend its decision to impose compulsory purchase orders on power station landowners Omega Atlantic before a planning inspector within weeks, plans to create the link road serving the plant are proceeding as normal.

Adding to the county's problems, Omega Atlantic has had confirmation that an alternative plan would have gained planning permission, as part of its bid to prove the land is worth £9million more than the £750,000 offered by LCC.

In spite of these setbacks a new link road application was due to go before Hyndburn Council last night.

The £10million road through the green belt will access the two waste sites from a new junction at Griffin roundabout, Burnley Road.

'Belt up' and stay safe plea

LESSON FOR LIFE: Steve Johnson joins Kirsty Hargreaves, Joe Ditchfield and other pupils at St Wilfrid's High School

The seatbelt safety message is now being rolled out to year nine students as part of the Lancashire Telegraph's Love Your Kids? Belt Them In campaign.

Previously Steve Johnson, who runs pre driver education courses for Blackburn with Darwen Casualty Reduction Team, said they would deliver the course to year 10 and 11 pupils only.

But Mr Johnson was asked to attend St Wilfrid's CE High School and Technology College, Blackburn, to raise awareness about the dangers of not wearing a seatbelt among younger students.

He said the response from the 220-plus students was encouraging and would now look to send out seatbelt safety messages in year nine, as well as years 10 and 11.

Love Your Kids? Belt Them In was launched by our sister newspaper in partnership with the Lancashire Partnership for Road Safety and Blackburn with Darwen Casualty Reduction Team after a shock survey revealed more than half of 10- year-olds do not wear seatbelts.

The Lancashire Telegraph campaign aims to educate youngsters about the importance of belting up, while encouraging passengers and drivers to wear seatbelts however long, or short, a journey. Mr Johnson, who was seconded to the Casualty Reduction Team from Lancashire Fire and Rescue Service, said: "We as a road safety team are trying to get the seatbelt message across. We are encouraging young people to be responsible passengers as they are our future drivers.

"We talked to young girls about coping strategies and if they go out with older boys who drive, I told them how to get them to slow down."

Twitter to cut crime

By SAM CHADDERTON

Police will send out details of crimes on social networking site Twitter.

Lancashire Constabulary has set up its own page on the popular instant messaging site to try and reach a 'broader audience'.

The force says it will distribute crime messages and recruitment news to target younger generations in particular. The aim is to inform the public about what officers are working on.

The force has already used other social networking sites, such as Facebook and YouTube, to put out appeals, and it is hoped Twitter will provide the people of Lancashire with instant and timely information about events, problems and crimes that matter to them. Acting Deputy Chief Constable Wendy Walker said: "More and more people are using social networking sites as an easy, instant form of communication they can trust and we want to embrace that.

"Through this online site we hope that younger generations in particular will become more involved with policing in their areas and gain a better under-standing of what we do."

Police want 'followers' to help them fight crime, as well as receive updates on incidents and other issues.

Citizen Time

London has inspired album

WHAT CAN WE EXPECT FROM THE NEW EDITORS ALBUM – ARE THERE GENERAL THEMES RUNNING THROUGH IT?

To my ears and my understanding of it, the lyrics are a lot more observational than we've previously done. There are lots of characters and scenes to the backdrop of London. I think we've always been an urban-sounding band and enjoyed the imagery and romance of cities at night, but with this new record there are less guitars and it's more synthetic.

IS THAT WHERE THE TITLE COMES IN?

Yeah. There's a view I see every other day in London and really take it for granted. At that particular moment, at that time of evening, neither night nor day, it just took my breath away.

WHAT ARTISTS INSPIRED YOU?

I used to grow up listening to guitar music like Oasis and Blur, and then quickly fell in love with other acts like Radiohead and REM. The Bunnymen came along when I was a bit older and had more experience in music – we went back and discovered them. More contemporary things like The Strokes, The Walkman and Elbow were a big influence on us. Even more so now. We've always listened to bands like Depeche Mode and New Order.

FIVE MINUTES WITH ... TOM SMITH

YOUR PARTNER IS EDITH BOWMAN AND YOU HAVE A SON TOGETHER – IS IT IMPORTANT TO KEEP YOUR PRIVATE LIFE OUT OF THE SPOTLIGHT?

Yeah, I understand why there's an interest, but I've never really talked about it in any great depth. We don't really court that side. We're just not interested in doing that side of thing. We're not that interesting.

Indie band Editors follow up their No 1 album An End Has A Start with their third release, In This Light & On This Evening, on October 12. Lead singer Tom Smith joined forces with Chris Urbanowicz, Russell Leetch and Edward Lay while studying at Staffordshire University.

Ending taboo

By JEMMA HUMPHREYS

There aren't many stand-up comedians whose aim is to talk themselves out of a job.

But to make himself and his act redundant is something Laurence Clark dreams about.

For wheelchair-using Laurence was born with cerebral palsy and uses his line of work to alter the general public's perceptions of people with disabilities.

He takes his solo shows to all corners of the country to reach out to as many people as he can. He is part of the Abnormally Funny People monthly show at London's Soho Theatre, where all but one of the acts are disabled.

And Laurence also has a voice online with his regular blog on the Ouch section of the BBC website, which reflects the lives and experiences of disabled people.

"My aim is to make people more open-minded. My shows are about how people react to me and other people like me. And one day I hope I don't need to do them. This wasn't an obvious choice from a careers adviser, so I'm not sure what I'd do next!"

Laurence — who completed a PhD in computing and science before turning to comedy — made his name in 2003 with his first show, The All-Star Charity Show. It won critical acclaim at the Edinburgh Fringe and was named Critics' Choice in The Times.

Then he hit the deadlines with his next show, The Jim Davidson Guide to Equality, which hit back at comic Jim Davidson for cancelling a show because wheelchair users were in his audience. Laurence vows to cancel if Jim turned up in his audience!

His latest controversial show is an attempt to reclaim the word 'spastic' with his tour titled Spastic Fantastic, coming to Nelson's ACE Centre.

"The idea came about because ethnic minorities have done the same thing to claim back words used to describe them, so I thought I could do the same with the offensive words that are always used about me."

Laurence regularly starts off his sets with the opener: "No, it's OK. I'm not drunk. This is just how I speak." It is this brave style that has led to him recently topping Shortlist Magazine's Britain's 10 Funniest New Comedians list.

● See Laurence Clark at The Ace Centre, Nelson, tomorrow (October 16). Tickets 01282 661080

MISSION: Laurence wants to remove the stigma from the word 'spastic'

Cinema round-up

ZOMBIELAND (15) A bloody and hilarious jaunt through a futuristic America ravaged by a contagion that has metamorphosed all but the lucky few into flesh-chomping predators.

LOVE HAPPENS (12A) Love comes knocking when a widower least expects it. Aaron Eckhart stars as the grief-stricken protagonist who falls for Jennifer Aniston.

UP (U) The latest computer-animated masterpiece from the wizards at Pixar is an airborne adventure in the company of a cranky old man and an excitable young boy.

Good home wanted for two lovable Jack Russells together.
Two little orphans in Accrington we are,
Looking for a new home,no luck so far.
Accrington is the place we would like to dwell,
We love walking on the Coppice cos we know it so well.
To move away from Accy we would both be so sad,
Please find us a home, we would be so very glad.
We are mature and active and very well bred,
But our coats all the year round we continiously shed.
We are extremely intelligent and trained our owner well,
But our owner has died and we are going through hell.
So please talk about us wherever you roam,
I'm Badgeche's Rupert and we need a good home.
If you are interested please call 0151 48 00 660

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

Since the important announcement, we have been inundated with calls and enquires so we have decided to run the event for an extra weekend.

Like all motor dealers we operate a stock liquidation policy. Every used car that we acquire must be sold within three months, if it isn't, it is sent to the auction & sold to the highest bidder.

Quite often at the auction we only receive the 'trade price' but we need to release the capital tied up in the cars to keep our business motoring. And with over 20 garages throughout the country, and literally thousands of cars in stock, we are talking about a lot of capital.

At auction most of these cars are bought by other dealers. They see them as an opportunity to make a quick profit by just putting them on their forecourt and selling them back to you - the public. After all, there is absolutelly nothing wrong with these cars - they are merely surplus to requirements.

Now, we are making you an incredible offer. We are giving you the opportunity to buy one of these cars at prices below market value this weekend. We shall also be bringing together surplus stock from around the country to this site.

Each car will be sold with at least 6 months warranty. Each car will have its price clearly marked on the windscreen. This is the only price that we will accept (the original price will also be on the car, so you can see at a glance how much you are saving).

It's that simple. No haggling, no hassle. However, we must restrict this offer to one car per person (no trade enquiries). We are willing to accept your car in part exchange and, subject to status, we are able to offer very attractive finance packages, ask for written details. Because of the special nature of this event, no other previously advertised offers can be used in conjunction.

And remember as these vehicles are available at clearance prices, we know that if you don't buy one, someone else will, or the car will be sold at auction.

THE TRADE KNOW THAT. NOW YOU KNOW THAT.
